SETTING UP A ROTATIONAL MODEL OF ADVANCED PARAMEDIC PRACTICE THROUGH THE NORTH WALES PACESETTER COLLABORATION.

Duncan Robertson Consultant Paramedic and Regional Clinical Lead for North Wales, Welsh Ambulance Services NHS Trust Gwynedd; Gemma Nosworthy, Manager BCUHB Primary Care Academy, Betsi Cadwaladr University Health Board.

Background

Ambulance services are under pressure to retain paramedics as more opportunities present across the NHS for this valuable group of staff. Rotational working is one means of providing multiple opportunities with the aim of sustaining an ambulance service based career over a longer work-span. The team of Welsh Ambulance Services NHS Trust (WAST) Advanced Paramedic Practitioners in North Wales provided a focal point for the evaluation of an internal rotation, with face to face responses being complimented with an emerging role in the Clinical Contact Centre.

Methods

A successful joint bid for Welsh Government Pacesetter funding enabled the formation of a collaborative team drawn from WAST, Betsi Cadwaladr University Health Board, Public Health Wales, NewMedEd and contributing Primary Care Clusters and Practices. This team was tasked with the implementation of the third element of the rotation into primary care. During 2019 the team developed multiple work-streams through a representative project board to provide assurances that the aims

WHERE WE ARE NOW

The background image is a wide-angle landscape photograph taken from an elevated position, looking down at a vast body of water. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a brilliant orange and yellow glow that reflects on the water's surface. The sky is a mix of soft pinks, purples, and blues. Several dark, silhouetted islands and peninsulas are scattered across the water. In the foreground, there are dark, rocky outcrops and small islands with some sparse vegetation. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.
